HIV and AIDS has become an epidemic in the past 25 years, especially in sub-Saharan Africa. It has been estimated that more than 40 million people are living with HIV infection, while another 20 million people died from this infection. Therefore, in combating HIV infection, the crucial responsibility is to educate people on how to avoid either contracting the infection or transmitting it to others. This book is the first of its kind in the Somali language presenting the subject matter in easy to understand documents based on the most current scientific knowledge about HIV and AIDS. The author is one of the leading researchers in the Somali AIDS project. He is currently working for the UN AIDS project in Nairobi.
